

How to Compliment Girls

Girls enjoy being in the spotlight and take compliments wholeheartedly. Compliments can go a long way, especially if you are considering asking a girl out on a date. Rather than buttering up with lame pickup lines, learn to say things that make you stand out as someone whose compliments are genuine. Learn to compliment a girl and to express how you truly feel.

Instructions

1. Step 1

Spark a conversation with a girl. Ask interesting questions and take note of her answers. Compliment her on the personality characteristics you find intriguing or interesting about her, rather than only complimenting her on her looks.

2. Step 2

Notice things such as the girl's eye color, hair color and freckles. Compliment the girl on her beauty and compare her coloring to beautiful things in nature. Girls would much rather be complimented on special features than on their figures.

3. Step 3

Compliment a girl's intelligence. Once you actually take the time to hold a conversation about life experiences and society, you will be able to tell how smart a girl is. Compliment her on her smarts and how she has handled life situations.

4. Step 4

Find out about the girl's personal relationships. If she is very endearing and nurturing to her family members and friends, compliment her on how she treats people. Girls like to be complimented on their compassion.

5. Step 5

Show interest in the girl's hobbies and interests. If her hobbies include activities such as art or crafting, ask to see some of her creations and compliment her on her work.

6. Step 6

Pay attention to the girl's outfit or accessories. Initiate further conversation by paying her a compliment about her attire.
